The Church Meetings

Proceedings of Both Presbyterian Assemblies.

AT NEW YORK AND CHATTANOOGA

Foreign Correspondence, the Order of the Day of the Northern Assembly, While a Hot Debate Occupies Nearly the Entire
Time of the Southern Meeting.

NEW YORK, May 24.—The general order of the day, "foreign correspondence" was the first work taken up by the Presbyterian general assembly. The moderator introduced Rev. Dr. Clark of the Philadelphia reformed church, who spoke of the work done in foreign lands by the reformed church. In an appropriate reply by the moderator, in which he thanked Dr. Clark for his attendance, he expressed the hope that he would live to see the day when the Reformed church and the Presbyterian church would walk together, they were both Calvinistic and both preached good doctrines.

Rev. Mr. Prochet, a minister of the Waldensian church in Rome, Italy, made a strong appeal for the Presbyterian church in Italy. The committee of foreign correspondence then asked to withdraw for a time, and the request was granted.

The report of the special committee on education was then presented. The report shows that there are an unusually large number of churches without pastors, and this was so because of the need of funds to educate young men to fill their places, and the scarcity of men to educate.

The principal business at the afternoon session was the consideration of the report of the committee on fraternal co-operation in Christian work. The first recommendation of the committee, relative to co-operation in foreign mission work, was adopted. The second, relative to co-operation in the home field, was debated at some length. Elder Curry opposed the recommendation as unwise and ill-timed. Rev. W. S. Fulton, of Kentucky, said the adoption of the recommendation would seriously impede the church's work in the south. Mr. Day said the southern general assembly had adopted such a recommendation, and the northern church should prove the genuineness of its professions of good feeling by taking the same step.

Dr. Crosby spoke in a similar vein and spoke very warmly of the southern church. "If we went south to live we would join that church as a matter of course," he said. Many southern members urged the adoption of the recommendation, as a step toward assimilating the factions. Mr. D. C. Harrow, of Texas, said there was so little difference between the northern and southern churches that unless a person inquired he would not know which he was a member of.

Dr. William C. Young, of Louisville, gave the report, as did also Mr. Thomas Kane, of Chicago. Mr. W. H. Hubbard, of Cayuga, asked what the board of home missions thought of the subject.

Mr. Walker, of Kansas City, and Dr. Kendall, secretary of that board, said the board favored the recommendation. The recommendation was then adopted. The third recommendation for co-operation in evangelization of the colored people was up for discussion when the hour of adjournment arrived.

A Day of Discussion.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 24.—The sixth day's session of the southern general assembly of the Presbyterians convened yesterday morning. The report of the committee having been concluded, the question of organic co-operation was taken up. As soon as the question was opened for discussion there was a movement set on foot to put it before the assembly, without allowing the members to express their opinion. Dr. Woodrow opposed taking away the liberties of members.

The moderator gave notice that speakers would be required to confine themselves to the following four questions to be considered: First, a touching upon the doctrine of the spirituality of the church. The northern assembly at Baltimore in 1888 had said that "the synods and councils are not to handle or conclude anything that is not ecclesiastic nor meddle with civil affairs, unless by humble petitions in extraordinary cases, or, by way of advice for the satisfaction of conscience, if they be thereunto required by civil magistrates. Second, the northern church at that meeting thought that more good would be done if the colored and white churches were united. Third, as regards boards which are chartered corporations. The educational, home missions, foreign missions and publication boards that were in existence prior to the separation." Fourth, as to the doctrine, they said: There is no question of doctrine or policy agitating any part of the church. The reunion of 1889 was effected on a standard basis without condition. The roll was called and each member was allowed a five minutes' talk. Dr. Woodrow was one of the speakers, and at least one hundred delegates expressed themselves, and the debate was hardly finished at the evening session.

Reformed Episcopalians.

BOSTON, May 24.—The general council of Reformed Episcopal church was addressed by Bishop Cridge, of Victoria, B. C., who gave an interesting account of the work performed in British Columbia. In his report in regard to work among colored people near Charleston Bishop Lahane, of Baltimore, said that anticipation formed in regard to the work had not been realized, owing to the inability to put resident missionaries in the field. Bishop Stevens, of Canada, and Rev. Philip Eldridge, of London, England, presented reports of the condition of churches in their district. Various amendments to the canons were adopted. The general committee held an executive session in the evening.

EXECUTION BY ELECTRICITY.

A Formidable List of the Things Necessary to Do the Work.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 24.—Gen. Austin Lathrop, the superintendent of state prisons, was busy yesterday holding a conference with the three prison wardens respecting various needs of the prisons. One of the chief matters of business discussed was the placing in Sing Sing, Auburn and Clinton prisons, of the electrical apparatus for the execution of murderers. The first prisoner to be executed under the new law, unless the courts interfere, will be Kleimer, the Buffalo murderer, who has been sentenced to die by an electrical stroke on June 27.

Before that date the electrical apparatus, which is being constructed under a contract made with Harold P. Brown, of New York, will have been delivered at the three prisons. But superintendent Lathrop does not expect the first execution under the new method will take place on June 27. "Lawyers usually appeal to the higher courts in cases of sentences for murder," he said yesterday, "and I hear that a stay of proceedings will be asked in this case, which the courts, as usual, will grant. We may not have any execution under the new law, therefore, before next year."

One of the remarkable features of the adoption of the method of carrying out capital punishment by the use of electricity is the fright that several electric light companies have had lest the state should make use of their electric light apparatus as an apparatus for taking the lives of criminals. One of these companies, which has shamed the housekeepers that the current of electricity through its wires is "harmless" and would not destroy human life, has been in a tremor lest Mr. Brown should copy its "safe" apparatus for the use of the state in depriving murderers of life.

Gen. Lathrop says there seems to be a world-wide interest in the execution of criminals by electricity. The state's first contract for an electric killing apparatus calls for the contractor to furnish before June 21 the following:

One 650 light alternating current dynamo, with electro-motive force variable at will from 1,000 to 2,000 volts; each dynamo to be furnished with an exciter and a rheostat; one Cardew voltmeter, with extra resistance coil calibrated for a range of 30 to 2,000 volts; one ammeter for alternating current from 0.1 to 3.00 amperes; one Wheatstone bridge and rheostat; 6 switches; 3 sets of electrodes; 3 sets of bell signals; 4,000 feet more or less as required, water proof insulated wire of high insulation resistance, and a sufficient number of insulators for same.

Discovered Just in Time.

PITTSBURG, May 24.—A special from Corry, Pa., says there was a narrow escape from a disaster on the Western New York and Pennsylvania railroad yesterday at the "Goose Hollow" trestle, between Brocton and Prospect. The trestle is 500 feet long and ninety-two feet high. The operator at Brocton forgot to deliver an order to hold a train until another had arrived. The two trains were approaching the trestle from opposite directions around a curve, when a farmer's little boy, who was working in a pasture near by, saw the danger, ran up the track and flagged one of the trains. The train was unable to stop until it reached the end of the trestle. The engineer of the other train also managed to stop just before reaching the trestle.

Five People Roasted to Death.

NORFOLK, Va., May 24.—A Virginian special from Virginia Beach says. The house of Rev. F. C. Clark, five miles from this place, was burned at 1 a. m. Mr. Clark, his two daughters, son and a niece were roasted to death in the burning building. Mrs. Clark and two children and the governess, Miss Ella Bidgood, escaped by jumping from the windows in their night clothes. The fire is thought to be of incendiary origin. Mr. Clark was pastor of the London Bridge Baptist church, in Princess Anne county, and a preacher of great ability. There is much excitement here, and if the incendiary is discovered there is little doubt of his being strung to the nearest tree.

The Old Law Goes.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 24.—The motion of the lawyers for the two Chinamen charged with enticing young girls into their laundries to quash the prosecution on account of defects in the law, owing to clerical errors made during the legislative session last winter, was overruled by the court this morning, and the Mongolians will be tried under the law that existed at the time of the crime. The testimony given was similar to that on the preliminary trial.

Wrecked on the Lakes.

CHICAGO, May 24.—The steamer Alky has arrived here with intelligence that the bark Lizzie Williams, carrying a crew of twenty-seven men and ninety-seven Chinese, was wrecked on Tugidak island, a barren and uninhabitable shoal, April 12. Six Chinese and two seamen were drowned. The vessel and cargo, worth $130,000, are a total loss.

Dick Hawes Sentenced.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 24.—Dick Hawes, the murderer of his wife and children, was sentenced late last night in the criminal court to be hanged July 12 next.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 24.—Three new cases of smallpox broke out at Nanticoke late last night. The victims were taken to the pest house.

GOOD PROSPECTS OF SUCCESS.

A Parcel Post and Money Order Convention Between the United States and South America Will Soon Be Established—Other Washington News.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Senor Don Emelio G. Veras, minister from Chili to the United States, called at the post-office department and had an interview with Postmaster General Wanamaker and Acting Superintendent of Foreign Mails Brooks, in relation to having a parcel post and money order convention between the United States and Chili.

There are now no parcel post or money order conventions between the United States and the South American countries, though conventions are in operation between the United States and several countries as far south as Central America. After an interchange of views Senor Veras was given a copy of the convention between the United States and Mexico. The matter will be further considered.

Why He Resigned.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—John T. McGrave, collector of internal revenue for the district of West Virginia, has resigned. In his letter of resignation he says: "In thus voluntarily retiring from the office to which I succeeded in the early months of Mr. Cleveland's administration, I think proper to say that I do so for the purpose of enabling the present administration to place an incumbent of its choice in this office, free and unembarrassed by any act or desire of mine. I insisted upon this, as the true theory and proper policy in relation to offices of such grade and character as that of collector of internal revenue four years ago, and I have never altered that opinion."

His Claim for a Pension.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Assistant Secretary Bussy, of the interior department, in the case of William Powell, who claims a pension on the ground that a comrade struck him with a demijohn, has directed a re-examination. The claim was rejected by the pension office on the ground that at the time of the injury Powell had been mustered out of the service. Powell claims, however, that he was on his way to receive his final pay at the time of the accident. Mr. Bussy holds that he was in the service, although his discharge paper bore date of two weeks before the assault.

Treaty with Denmark.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Denmark and the United States have made ratification of a treaty for the arbitration of the claim of Carlos Butterfield against the government of the former country for losses and injuries to the United States, vessels at the hands of the authorities of the Danish West Indies in the years of 1884 and 1885. The two vessels, while in distress, attempted to make an anchorage at port on one of these islands but were prevented doing so by the Danish authorities, who fired at them.

Cruisers Nine, Ten and Eleven.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Advertisements for bids for building three new 2,000 ton unarmed cruisers for the navy are being prepared at the navy department. The vessels will be known as cruiser 9, 10 and 11, and are to be built at a cost not exceeding $700,000 each.

It was left discretionary by congress with the navy department to build either gunboats or cruisers, and the latter were chosen.

Three Important Appointments.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—It is authoritatively stated that the appointment of two international revenue collectors, one for Philadelphia, a second comptroller and one auditor of the treasury, will be made this week. The names of the persons to be appointed were agreed upon at a conference between the president and Secretary Windom, on Wednesday.

Letter Robber Arrested.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Robert Powell, a colored laborer in the registry division of the Washington City post-office, was arrested yesterday while in the act of rifling a registered letter. He was committed to jail in default of bail.

LABOR TROUBLES.

B. & O. Shop Workmen Thrown Out of Employment.

BALTIMORE, May 24.—There is much apprehension among the workmen at the Mt. Clare shops of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad company that most of them will soon be without employment. It is the avowed purpose of the company, as stated a few weeks ago, to have all its new

ROSSER & McCARTHY,
Proprietors.

FRIDAY, MAY 24, 1889.

C. W. SPARKS has announced himself as a candidate for Sheriff in Robertson County, with D. M. Reveal as Deputy.

COLONEL BRADLEY in his speech at the Republican State convention referred to Tate as a "ghost," and added:

"It floats on every passing breeze, and is a stench in the nostrils that will not down."

Now, whoever heard of there being a "stench" about a ghost?

The editor of the Maysville Republican doesn't seem to like the way the BULLETIN has been talking of Pension Commissioner Tanner. We can't help this. Tanner's official letters and actions convict him of being a hypocrite of the first order. And his management of the pension office is attracting widespread attention. The New York World says: "Washington dispatches announce that the $82,000,000 appropriated for the payment of pensions this year has already been exhausted, with six weeks more of the fiscal year to be provided for." The probability of a deficiency is, therefore, converted into a certainty, and the expectation—perhaps the boast—of the bureau, that it will be able to dispose of over $100,000,000 before July, seems likely to be realized. In any other country than this, or with a people less indifferent than ours to what becomes of the revenues, the extraordinary growth of the pension fund under the combined efforts of the claim agents and the political demagogues would be startling. In 1878, thirteen years after the close of the war, when the claims would naturally have begun to diminish, the applications allowed had decreased from a maximum of 50,000, in 1866, the year after the war, to about 11,000. The disbursements had fallen from a maximum of $33,000,000, in 1871, to $26,000,000. Last year, twenty-three years after the close of the war, the applications allowed were over 60,000—including the survivors of the Mexican war lately pensioned—and the disbursements this year will be at least $90,000,000. This sum exceeds by $27,000,000 the total ordinary expenses of the Federal Government in the year before the war. It equals the cost of the standing army of Great Britain (180,000 strong), and nearly equals the cost of the great German army (almost 500,000 strong). And with Corporal Tanner in charge there is no telling where it will stop."

"On the Deep Blue Sea."

Nothing has been heard from Messrs. Ernie White and Lee Haucke, the two Maysville wanderers, since they left Astoria, Oregon, some weeks ago on their ocean voyage. Their last letter to Mr. C. H. White was written on their trip down the Columbia river. They wrote:

"We are en route to Astoria, Oregon. Suppose you have read about the scenery along the Columbia. Well, the scenery is about all one sees, for there are no towns containing over six block houses. But the mountains and valleys are grand.

"The river abounds in fish and the country is full of big game. One sees a great many canneries along the banks, where the salmon are put up for shipment to other points. They catch mostly salmon, but there are all kinds of fish. In fact this is a great fish country."

"We just passed a town called Cincinnati. It has four houses, all occupied by the cannery bosses. The fishermen all live in tents."

"Astoria is in sight and we can see the ships from every Nation, with flags flying, and then off there in the distance we get a view of the deep blue sea. By the way, the lower deck of our boat is loaded with Chinese and sheep. They all go in together."

"Well, the ship is out at the mouth of the river waiting for us, then ho! for the Southern seas. This river is ten miles wide seventeen miles from its mouth."

"If you don't hear from us for three or four months don't get uneasy. 'A bad dollar will always return.' Yes, 'a rolling stone gathers no moss,' and 'a setting hen lays no eggs.'

"We can hardly write the boat shakes so, she rocks like a skiff. Astoria all right! All aboard! 'Let her go.'"

GRIEVANCES.

Council Listens to Complaints Against the Action of the Board of Equalization.

The Levy Fixed at $1—Resolutions Concerning the Death of Mr. Stockton.

The meeting of the City Council last evening was not very largely attended.

Messrs. Cox, Shackleford, Wadsworth, Shannon, Pearce, Ficklin, Saulsberry, Rudy, Fleming, Triplett and Wood answered to the roll call.

It was "grievance" night, the council having met to hear complaints against the action of the Board of Equalization.

Messrs. G. W. Blatterman, Jr., James Hendrixson and F. Schnelle were the first to enter complaints against the raise in their assessments but no action was taken. In Mr. Schnelle's and Mr. Hendrixson's case the raise was not as much as they had been informed it was, and they didn't "kick" any more when they learned this fact.

Mrs. Morris' assessment on residence was reduced from $400 to $300.

Mr. Isaac Lane's residence at corner of Limestone and Fourth was assessed at $2,000. The Board raised it to $2,600 and council reduced it to $2,500.

Mrs. F. Otto's assessment on residence on Limestone street was reported at $2,000. The Board raised it to $2,200 and the council increased it to $3,000.

Messrs. W. W. Ball and Joseph Diener entered complaints, but the council took no action.

Mr. James H. Hall was present and complained against the action of the Board in regard to the assessment of the James H. Hall Plow Company's real estate. It was given in at $15,500. The Board raised it to $20,000. A motion to lower it to the original figure was lost. It was then reduced to $18,000.

The assessment of Mrs. Brown's property on East Third street was reduced from $3,500 to $3,000.

There were a few other complaints but no action was taken.

Messrs. J. W. Watson & Co. were assessed on 198 barrels of whisky at $25 a barrel, for the past five years.

The Board of Equalization was directed to investigate and find out any other un-taxed whisky in the city and have it assessed.

H. E. Huntington was assessed $2,000 on two houses on Forest avenue.

The clerk was directed to draw an order for $150 on the treasury for the payment of City Assessor Shepard's salary.

The City Clerk and the Supervisors of Tax were each allowed $15 for five days services on the Board of Equalization.

The Assessor's books were received and adopted as the assessment for the present year.

The city levy for the present year was fixed at $1 on the $100—90 cents for general purposes and 10 cents for school purposes.

The amendment to the city charter, previously adopted in part, was read and adopted as a whole. It refers, among other things, to the collection of taxes.

The following was presented and read:

At a called meeting of the City Council of the City of Maysville, held in the Council Chamber May 14, 1889, to take action upon the death of Hon. John M. Stockton, your committee presented the following resolutions:

WHEREAS, In the inscrutable wisdom of the Almighty, John M. Stockton, a member of this body, has been removed by death from our midst.

Resolved, That by the death of our esteemed fellow Councilman, we are called to deplore the loss of a valued and useful member of this body, one who was always prompt and active in the duties required by his office and a faithful guardian of the interests of this city.

Resolved, That we cherish his memory as a friend and companion, and that we shall miss his wise counsel and his long and valuable experience, and an old and honored citizen.

Resolved, That we tender to his bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy for the loss of loving husband and father.

Resolved, That the council and the city officers attended the funeral ceremonies in a body, and the Council Chamber be draped in mourning for thirty days.

Resolved, That this action of the City Council be spread upon the record and published in the city papers.

W. C. SHACKLEFORD, L. C. BLATTERMAN, I. N. SALISBURY, Committee.

The resolutions were adopted by a rising vote, after which council adjourned.

TOBACCO MARKET.

Furnished by Glover & Durrett, proprietors Louisville Tobacco Warehouse.

Sales on market, May 24, just closed amount to 1,477 hds., with receipts for the same period of 1,477 hds. Sales on market since January 1st, amount to 48,316 hds.

Since our last report nearly the entire burley section has been favored with good rains, and in some localities setting has commenced to a limited extent. The first sales after the recent rains showed a marked decline in the common and medium grades of burley which were in the doubtful condition, but the market has been gradually gaining strength in the last few days, and has nearly recovered from the depression of the first part of the week.

We only find it necessary to lower quotations from a week ago a few notches on lugs and common leaf. The better grades in fair order have shown no weakening tendency.

The following quotations fairly represent our market for new burley tobacco:

A sum not to exceed $50 was appropriated in the hands of Lewis M. Collis to repair a bridge over Stone Lick, near Orangeburg.

John Ryan, Superintendent of the Infirmary, presented his annual report, which was read, received and ordered filed.

Everything is in good condition and the growing crops promising.

The Cronin Murder.

Latest Developments in the Mysterious Crime.

A STARTLING REVELATION.

Some of the Chicago Police Force Believed to Know More About the Murder Than They are Willing to Tell—The Mystery Will Soon Be Solved According to the Detectives.

CHICAGO, May 24.—The very latest developments in the Cronin murder case justify the belief that the guilty parties will soon be apprehended. The police are now holding an important secret discussion in Capt. Wing's office in Lake View, and there is no doubt that something important is under discussion. Judge Longnecker, when seen by a United Press reporter, said that the police were on the trail of one of the principals in the crime, and he believed the whole conspiracy would be laid bare within a few hours.

The case has been placed in the hands of Detective William Pinkerton, and the work of ferreting out the actual conspirators is now being pushed. There are three suspects. Two of them are under surveillance. These men are believed to be so closely associated with the foul murder as to be able to tell how it was consummated. There is another class of suspects. These are the leading conspirators, who, while they probably took no hand in the actual assassination, gave it their endorsement if not their hearty support.

The party friends of Dr. Cronin have begun their work of investigation on a cautious basis. Their experience soon after the mysterious disappearance of Dr. Cronin has satisfied them that the influence which worked to kill the Irish leader permeated a no more powerful body than the Chicago police force. When the inexplicable absence of Dr. Cronin was first announced the police authorities assigned as detectives on the case two men whom friends of the dead man have every reason to believe were not desperately anxious to solve the mystery, and are industriously taking up the records of Detectives Mike Whelan and Dan Coughlin, of the Chicago avenue station.

Whelan is a cousin of Sullivan, the ice man, and Coughlin is said to be a member of an Irish society that was arrayed against the doctor. Whelan and Coughlin belonged to the original detail that Capt. Schaack sent out to Lake View to investigate the trunk mystery.

It is a singular coincidence that Sullivan, the ice man, ordered and obtained the peculiar business cards—one of which was presented by an unknown man to Dr. Cronin—a very short time previous to the murder. Sullivan has been sharply questioned on this subject and said that the cards had been printed for him a long time ago at the office of The Lake View Record, but a reference to the books of the printing office failed to show any record of the transaction. Though Sullivan is not under arrest he is being closely shadowed by three men who are said to be operatives of the Pinkerton agency.

Justice Mahoney, who introduced Sullivan to Dr. Cronin, is also under surveillance. The latter made a statement to States Attorney Longnecker yesterday, in which he reiterated nearly all that he previously said relative to his acquaintance with the doctor. He said that the introduction of the two men was brought about by a chance meeting, and that so far as he knew Sullivan only took advantage of it to close a profitable deal for the doctor's professional services. Mahoney denies any knowledge of a plot to injure the doctor, and he has gone so far as to state that he does not believe that Sullivan had anything to do with the murder.

John Joseph Cronin, an elder brother of the murdered man, arrived in the city yesterday from Bradford, Ark., where he has a farm. He is decidedly a granger in appearance and not very familiar with the ways of the city. He was taken down to view the body in the Lake View police station and after he had overcome his first repulsion and mastered his feelings sufficiently, made a very careful examination of it. "There can be no doubt at all that that is my brother's body," he said, "I know it beyond all questions," and he wiped a tear from his eye as he said so. "No, I don't know how he was killed or why. I am leaving all the arrangements for the funeral and everything to his friends. I shall stay here until he is buried, and perhaps to settle up his estate, but I don't know anything at all about what they are doing toward discovering his murderers. I am not very well acquainted here yet and hardly know what is being done."

A LABORER'S LUCK.

A Case Involving Millions of Omaha Property Decided in His Favor.

TACOMA, Wash., May 23.—Twenty or thirty years ago Robert Shields, then a comparatively young man, acquired a homestead on the banks of the Missouri river, on the site where the city of Omaha now stands.

After perfecting his title he left for California with his wife and family, and there acquired a considerable amount of property. Some twelve years ago he quarreled with his family and left his California property in the hands of an agent. Shields moved to Puget sound, and has for some years been working as a day laborer in Puyallup, eight miles from here. After he left for California the Omaha Townsite company jumped his claim and included it in the land it sold.

Shields commenced suit against the company sixteen years ago, and the case has been in the courts ever since. He has received word that the supreme court of the United States has decided the case in his favor, and that the damages have been assessed at $22,000,000. Shields has sent his brother, who is a state senator of Nebraska, a power of attorney with instructions to go ahead with the enforcement of the judgment obtained. Shields is a man of 58 or 60 years old, and has many friends throughout the country.

GLÖOMY FOR THE DOCTORS.

Coroner's Inquest in the Case of Mind Reader Bishop.

NEW YORK, May 24.—The inquest in the case of the mind reader, W. Irving Bishop, was begun yesterday afternoon. Clay M. Greene, the dramatist, testified that he had seen Bishop in cataleptic fits before the one which caused his death. The fact was brought out by this witness that Dr. Irwin refused to call in Dr. Robertson, Bishop's regular physician, on the ground that he was not friendly with Robertson. Witness further testified that Bishop's muscles were not rigid when the electric shock was applied. The shock was so severe as to twist the body around.

J. G. Ritchie, the theatrical manager, testified that he had often seen Bishop in trances that differed in no respect from the final one.

Louis Aldrich, who, it is said, claims that the doctors took from Bishop a paper asking that care be taken not to cut him up or bury him alive, will be examined to-morrow; also, Henry E. Dixey, Sadie Martinet and other friends of the deceased.

She Had a Big Brother, Who Wouldn't Allow Her to Run Away With a Showman.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., May 24.—Fort Branch, a station on the Evansville and Terre Haute railroad, some fifteen miles from this city, was treated to a sensation yesterday. Miss Smith, a handsome 18-year-old girl, eloped with an attaché of a small show filling a date there. He goes under numerous aliases.

They were seen to leave town, and the girl's brother and friends gave chase with shotguns and overtook the elopers a few miles out of town. The circus man escaped in advance of several bullets. The girl almost went into hysterics but was returned home to repeat.
